

Leo was a nice guy, he wanted to help people. So, one day, he decided to travel around the world and work for a humanitarian organization. He left sailing on the sea with his sailboat.

Ana was a good woman with an unexciting little life. One day, she chose to leave on a sailboat, she was craving for adventures. She left for a long, a very long time...

They didn't know each other but their destinies were linked.

Ana's travel was going perfectly well until the tragedy. Suddenly, she was still on her sailboat, a big wave tipped over the boat. The young woman nearly drowned. Finally, she ran aground on the beach of a mysterious island. When she woke up, she discovered a beautiful beach. It was sunny and hot. She had survived the shipwreck and she had landed on this beach.

Two weeks had passed, she was exhausted and she thought that she was alone on this desert island. She had to survive, the rescue team had not arrived yet because she had not been able to send a help message. In the afternoon, she wanted to eat so she decided to catch coconuts.

She was climbing on a coconut palm and she was dropping coconuts when she heard a scream.

« Ouch ! » It was the voice of a man.

Apparently, she was not alone on this island. She saw a man who had been injured by the coconut. She decided to ask his name.

« Who are you ? » she asked anxiously to the man.

« I'm Leo » answered the guy.

« But, how did you get here ? »

« I had an accident with my sailboat and I beached on this island ! » he explained to Ana.

« Me too ! »

Now, she was not alone ! They fell in love at first sight. She was beautiful. He was nice. Leo proposed to help Ana to build a shelter for the night. It was the evening, they were walking through the jungle to find what they needed to build a shelter. They used torches to frighten animals. When they saw the sky, they decided to sit on a rock and watch the sunset. They sat together on a rock in front of the sunset, where there were no trees, so they could see the wonderful show of the sunset. When the sun left, they kissed. Ana had never imagined that she could find love on a desert island !

They lived together on this island until their death, with happiness and love...
